SERVING THE VILLAGES OF BALTIC, HANOVER AND VERSAILLES IN THE BEAUTIFUL SHETUCKET RIVER VALLEY

WHAT'S NEW IN SPRAGUE? Amy Lynn Reifsnnyder

When word got around that Bill and Dee Hastings were selling Fred's News Restaurant at 51 West Main Street in Baltic, some local folks were nervous. What would happen when new people came in and "took over" the established community eatery? Who would they be? Would they respect the traditions and needs of the small town meeting place or would they come in and change everything? Would the new owners be local folks or strangers? Would the business even succeed without the experience and dedication Bill and Dee had invested over the years? Speculation ran high. Now, after two months of running the place, the new owners, Melissa and Rico Guachione, have found a nook for themselves in the community. Melissa is almost local, coming from Bozrah. Her husband Rico is a Manchester native. The couple now live above the restaurant, and are settling in.

"We love the town," Melissa said, "and the regulars who come." The couple enjoy the "nice, small, quaint" aspects of Baltic where "everyone knows everyone". They spoke with ready affection for the "Morning Crew" who come in while they are setting up to regale them with stories and town history.

"They're a rowdy bunch," Michelle said with a smile. "It's fun to hear what they talk about."

When not baking fresh muffins or prepping for the specials of the day, Melissa works as a Customer Service Manager at Plas-Pak Industries in Norwich. Rico mans the grill when he's not helping with his father's construction company, Glenn Construction of Manchester.

The two are understandably busy, but their interest in maintaining the tradition of excellent food and community prevails. Of course, they have help.

Quick to say "This is the best place to work!" were Michael and Matt Buccino who provide excellent customer service.

The couple aren't planning to change the basic menu at Fred's, but they hope to eventually expand the menu to include some dishes traditional to the Guachione family. They haven't changed the menu prices, either.

"We want to please our customers," said Rico. "Bill and Dee did a great job with this place, and we don't want to disappoint them or the townspeople. We want to start small, learn about the community, the people."

One of their customers, Dave Allen, who "basically grew up in here" continues his Friday morning tradition of breakfast with his two children, Madelyn and Jack. "Everything is so good, you have to try it all."

Fred's News is open Tuesday through Sunday, 5:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Why not come out and find out What's New in Sprague?

House Numbers Should be Visible Animal Control Department

I just wanted to let the folks in town know that the unlicensed dog survey is ongoing. The state only requires us to do 20 percent but my goal is to be as close to 100 percent as possible. Right now I'm doing the outlying areas and working my way into the centers of the towns. Versailles and Hanover are completed and Baltic is about 30 percent finished. Five days after its completion, the next step will be to go back to the houses that were tagged with a notice and issue state infractions for those that didn't respond. If you have an unlicensed dog and you didn't see a notice, don't act surprised when I show up to issue an infraction because more than likely I was at your house and have you on my list. The end result will still be licensing your dog only at a higher price. I'm hoping this last step can be avoided. We are hoping to have the survey completed within the next 3 to 4 weeks.

I found while doing this survey how much time was wasted trying to figure out what house I was at due to poor numbering or lack thereof. Most people probably aren't even aware of the importance of those numbers on your house. Dispatchers for 911 may know the address of your house should you ever have to call for an emergency, but anyone responding to your home in an emergency, whether it be myself for a dog bite, the state police, fire department or any emergency personnel, could waste valuable time trying to locate you if your mailbox and home are not clearly marked with numbers large enough to be seen. In an emergency, that valuable time wasted could cost a life. Walk outside and look at your house when it is starting to get dark, or even in the daytime and see how difficult it would be to find your house should an emergency arise.

I would also like to mention that Communications Plus in Norwich donated two hours of free labor working on the ACO van, and Kim Laport, who not only did the lettering on the van, but revamped the town seal at no extra cost. Thank you for making the dollars stretch a little farther.

Happy Holidays to all and a have safe and Happy New Year!

SCOUTS COLLECT FOOD

Cub Scout Pack 19 Baltic, sponsored by St. Joseph's Church Occum-Versailles; and Troop 19 Baltic, sponsored by the Baltic Volunteer Fire Department; collected about 1800 non-perishable food items in early November. Part of the Boy Scouts of America's annual national Good Turn, about 30 local scouts participated in Scouting for Food.

Headed up for many years by the Boy Scout troop, the Cub Scout pack and troop worked together in putting bags out on doorsteps in Sprague in late October. A week later the scouts collected food residents left out for them.

"It was my goal to see our boys hit every single home in Sprague," said pack committee member Roger Chatell. "They all did a great job doing just that, with the help of all the adult volunteers and parents out on the streets with the boys." Collecting a town record amount of food from front doors on a rainy Saturday, the scouts brought all the food back to the town hall garage, where it was sorted and counted, and stacked to be distributed by the town's senior center volunteers.

CONSERVATION COMMISSION UPDATE Don Boushee

Hello once again, fellow Sprague citizens. As usual, we have been very busy conserving and preserving our great town. Last week a group of us were down at the River Park. As we perused the area, a majestic bald eagle flew over us and a group of salmon fishermen that were enjoying the park and our beautiful Shetucket River. WOW, what an awe inspiring sight. We have seen eagles and many other species of wildlife as we have been doing our conservation work at the park and up at the Mukluk. We are very lucky to live where we do. I believe that as we continue our conservation and preservation work up and down the Shetucket and Little River Valleys, we have the opportunity to continue to unveil our town as the wonderful rural, picturesque New England town that it is. We are at a very important juncture in our history. We have the opportunity now to preserve this character for us, our children, and theirs. Please step up and help. It's a great time to volunteer in our community. Any questions just e-mail me at donaldboushee@sbcglobal.net or come to our meeting on the second Monday of each month at 7 p.m. (Jan. 14).

We are currently planning to expand trails from the River Park, up and down the river and clean out in front of the head-race. We met with representatives of the SCC, the historical society, recreation committee, grant writer, contractor, and others to discuss the project. It was an example of the new spirit of collaboration in our town. Another item to speak well of is the new light on the River Park. What a great touch! Thanks to those who helped get that on line.

At the Mukluk we have been putting up the boundary markers and leading hikes. Our next hikes are on Sundays Jan. 13 at 9 a.m. and 20 at 10 a.m. leaving from the Grist Mill. Please join us for some winter hiking, and perhaps sight a bald eagle or other wild life that our river valley continues to sustain. Bring the family. It will be a great experience. We hope to in the future to work with the rec. committee and others to have other activities such as moon-lit hikes, cross country skiing, snow shoeing, etc. The possibilities are only limited by our imagination. Come and talk about other possibilities.

On Nov. 10, Hypno Lorenzo performed at Sayles Elementary School and according to Reg Patchell of the Baltic Fire Department "his performance was great! A Note of Thanks

From Tracy Medling

To everyone who sent cards, notes, prayers and meals during my recuperation, my great appreciation and gratitude! My surgery went very well, it was NOT cancer, and I am healing up better than some people anticipated! I miss you all at the Hanover Post Office and should be back to work, if all goes according to plan, the week after Christmas. Have a blessed Christmas and Wonderful New Year!
